Besides suffering from bruises the horse had a broken jaw and one eye was put out. Sheriff Buzzell followed tracks made by the bleeding horse and the arrest was made at O. Vaness', where Trombley claimed he was seeking work during sugaring. He was placed in the cell at the Memorial building to await his hearing. He was fined $75 and the costs of prosecution. The horse was given over to Sheriff Buzzell to kill Monday night. THE CAMBRIDGE RESOLUTIONS

At the Cambridge town meeting, March 7, the following resolutions were adopted without a dissenting vote:

Resolved, That it is the opinion and expression of the taxpayers of the town of Cambridge by the following resolutions accepted and adopted that the amount of money voted and appropriated at this town meeting be limited to the least legal amount; that the officers for the town this year elect, in conjunction with those already elected, should have a dominant purpose in view, that to best serve the town by a close application of the law as applied to all business transactions entrusted to them as town officers, having in view the present excessive amount of money paid the town's employees.

The above resolution is placed before the town in view of the enormous indebtedness of the town as made manifest by the town report (near one hundred thousand dollars) and a certain necessity of a radical conservatism in relation to the town's management.

And be it further resolved, That it is the expressed manifestation of this meeting that the voters (which include both the women and men) of this town, from this date to the election of town representative, consider individually and collectively in regard to the best person they can select and elect as their representative to the coming session of the Legislature, regardless of party affiliations or any species of favoritism; that their vote and influence as legislators be extended to cut down the state's expenses by and through all legitimate sources, that our state and towns may be saved from the terrible burden of taxation that threatens, and is smothering the same, with extravagance and mismanagement.

And be it further resolved, That the senator from this county and the governor of the state be selected and elected upon the same basis as declared in the above resolutions.

And be it further resolved, That this town is unalterably opposed to the bonding of the state for the purpose of highway construction.

And be it further resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the town records.
